- 3.2.3 The Company does not undertake to transmit messages, but offers the use of its facilities when available for purposes of providing the telecommunications services requested by Customer, and will not be liable for errors in transmission or for failure to establish connections.
- 3.2.4 The Company reserves the right to discontinue service, limit service, or to impose requirements on Customers as required to meet changing regulatory or statutory rules and standards, or when such rules and standards have an adverse material affect on the business or economic feasibility of providing service, as determined by KDDI-A in its reasonable judgment.
- 3.2.5 In furnishing service, the Company's responsibility is limited to furnishing a channel capable of transmitting communications between a terminal arranged by the Company in the United States, and a designated location outside the United States.
- 3.2.6 Customers may not connect non-interconnected private lines provided over the Company's facilities to the public switched network at either the United States or

3.5.1 Before a service or facility is furnished to a Customer whose credit has not been duly established to the sole and exclusive satisfaction of the Company, the Company may require a Customer to make a deposit to be held as a guarantee of payment of charges. The deposit will not exceed an amount equal to three months' charges for a service or facility which has a minimum payment period of one month.

3.5.2 When a service or facility is discontinued, the amount of the deposit, if any will be applied to the Customer's account and any credit balance remaining will be refunded. As used in this Section, service means the channels provided by (i) the Company and (ii) Foreign Affiliates and Foreign Correspondents connecting with the Customer's premise overseas and (iii) Local Exchange Carriers connecting with the Customer's premises in the United States, when the services described in (ii) and (iii) are obtained by the Company, as Customer's agent, from the underlying carrier.

- b. Credits will be given for Interruptions when the telecommunications facilities have been unavailable for a continuous period of at least one hour. Fractional hours shall be adjusted to the nearest whole hour.
- c. An Interruption period begins when the Customer reports a service, facility or circuit to be interrupted and releases it for testing and repair. An Interruption period ends when the Company and Customer mutually confirm that the service, facility, or circuit is operative. If the Customer reports a service, facility or circuit to be inoperative but declines to release it for testing and repair, it is considered to be impaired, but not interrupted.
- d. The Company shall not accept any request for the refund of charges under the provisions of Section 3.10.1(a) above after six months have elapsed from the date on which the grounds for the refund arose.

3.9.2 Substitute Service

In the event of channel Interruption caused by storms, or the action of elements, or other acts of God, or by strikes, or by civil or military authority or by wars, insurrections, riots, rebellions, or the unlawful acts of individuals, or by other conditions beyond the control of the Company, the Company reserves the right to provide DOMESTIC IP-VPN Service by any available substitute means (if acceptable to the Customer) pending restoration of normal service. No credit will be given for periods of channel Interruption when substitute service has been provided to the Customer.
